STATEMENT

I am highly interested to build my career in governance and development field. I graduated with high honors from the University of Dhaka. I was the top marks holder in my undergraduate programme and was the second top marks holder in my graduate level. I also have some work experience in governance and research field. Some of my research work has been published in national and international journals. I am always very keen to research. My key research interests are about issues related to people and society. I always knew if I want to do something for the society, I need to know the problems, gaps and issues first to overcome them. These inspired me towards a researcher career. Currently, I am employed as an Assistant Professor at the Department of Political Science in the University of Dhaka, which is a fortunate blend of my passion for research in governance, development, local government issues and access to regulated professions with the opportunity to be involved in public advocacy. I am highly confident about my capacity.
