DU to be turned into universal university: VC

Education desk:

Dhaka University (DU) Vice-Chancellor Professor Dr. Niaz Ahmed Khan has stated that the university aims to transform into a universal university. He made this announcement while speaking to reporters after visiting the admission test center for the 'Arts, Law, and Social Sciences' unit for the 2024-25 academic year at Kala Bhaban on Saturday.

During his visit, Pro-VC (Administration) Professor Dr. Saima Haque Bidisha, Dean of the Faculty of Arts Professor Dr. Siddiqur Rahman Khan, Proctor Saifuddin Ahmed, deans of various faculties, and department teachers were present.

Highlighting the significance of the admission process, Dr. Niaz Ahmed Khan said, "This is the biggest admission exam of Dhaka University. This year, 125,500 students have participated in this unit's examination."

Despite limited resources, the university has taken steps to ensure a smooth experience for students and guardians.

"We have arranged seating for students and guardians within our limited capacity. Additionally, the number of volunteers has been increased to maintain discipline."

A total of 80 volunteers were deployed to assist students and maintain order during the examination.

The admission test for the 'Arts, Law, and Social Sciences' unit was conducted peacefully from 11:00 AM to 12:30 PM.

Dhaka University continues to strengthen its academic and administrative framework, with a vision of expanding its global recognition and influence.
